How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

Nicknames for German Regiments.

To take the collective list first the guards are designated "Hamburg sheep. The cavalry christen the infantry as a body, by the alternative names "sand-bares," "sand-carriers," and "grasshoppers." The infantry invariably speak of the cavalry as "grooms." The line soldiers of the line "field-rats," the cuirassiers are known as "flour sacks," the hussars as "pack-threads," the artillery as "cow-soldiers," and the pioneers as "moles." Coming to separate corps, the guard, the first regiment of foot are known as "tin heads," because of the color of their helmet; the First grenadiers are called "sago peelers," the chasseur are called "mechanics," inventions, engineering and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. A NATION OF TEA DRINKERS.

Food and Drink of the Russians—Vodka, Vegetables, Rye Bread and Tea.

The Russians are a nation of tea drinkers; coffee is rare; tea is universal, and universally good. The best tea I ever drank was in Russia; they drink it at all hours, and without regard to quantity—sometimes ten cups at a sitting, and yet, apparently, with impunity. Brass urns, in which tea water is boiled by means of a charcoal fire, are found over all the empire; they are called samovars, and I found it important to include in my Russian vocabulary the word "samovar." Their method of making and drinking tea has been noticed by all travelers in their country.

They claim that water at the boiling point is destructive to the good qualities of tea, so they draw their tea with water just below that point. They use thin glass tumblers, with ordinary saucers; sometimes the women use cups, but the men never; the tea is poured into saucers, which are held on the upturned ends of the thumb and fingers of the right hand; milk and cream are rarely used; a block of cut sugar is held in the left hand, from which they nibble pieces, as they slowly sip their delicious, wine colored tea.

These people are called by the Germans the "Onion Russians," because of the quantity of onions they eat; they might, with more propriety, be called a nation of cucumber eaters. Cucumbers are raised in great quantities, of excellent quality, and may be found, pickled, anywhere between Behring Strait and the Baltic. Cucumber water is a favorite hot weather beverage, or, if you will permit a Celticism, they make their lemonade from cucumbers. This light beverage, however, is not sufficient to allay the thirst of the mujik; from his abundant rye he makes a powerful brandy, called vodka; that it is high proof is well attested by the numerous drunken men over which one must tread in the streets.

Though I saw in many gardens good potatoes, cabbages, radishes and turnips, the much maligned sunflower was the only apology I saw for floriculture. Its seeds are esteemed a great delicacy by the young people, and are found for sale in every shop. We may regard the sunflower seeds as the peanuts of the Russian peasantry.

Their agricultural implements are of the rudest character. Grass is cut with straight, shapeless blades, made at the country blacksmith's shop, and attached to the end of a straight stick. The women do the harvesting; the grain is cut with sickles, as it was cut 3,000 years ago; the ground is plowed with roots, and harrowed with the limbs of trees; the grain is threshed with a flail.

Black rye bread is the staple article of food throughout the empire. The peasants live largely on a vegetable diet, meat being reserved for the holidays; they seldom use a knife and fork, but a wooden spoon for liquid food, and the fingers for anything else.

On one occasion a something was placed before me as I sat at the samovar making my tea; I glanced furtively and hesitatingly at it, whereupon the woman of the house threw back an upper crust with her fingers, and revealed a steaming conglomeration of little fishes, and encouraged me with a reassuring "Horosho; horosho;" (good; good). The fishes were unevisserated, unbeheaded—in short, undressed; but on discovering among them the familiar countenance of a little pickerel, and determined not to offend the hospitality of my hostess, after the fashion of little Jack Horner, I extracted the pickerel, ate him up, and true to the hypocritical etiquette of my country, I, too, said: "Horosho; horosho;" when the thing was positively abominable.—James Picalton in Outing.

Origin of National Tunes.

Hopkinson's "Hail Columbia" was written to the tune of "The President's March," just as Mrs. Howe's "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was written to "John Brown's Body." The "Wearing of the Green," of the Irishman, is sung to the same air as the "Benny Havens, O!" of the West Pointer. The "Star Spangled Banner" has to make shift with the second hand music of "Anacreon in Heaven," while our other national air, "Yankee Doodle," uses over the notes of an old English nursery rhyme, "Lucy Locket," once a personal lampoon in the days of the "Beggar's Opera," and now surviving in the "Baby's Opera," of Mr. Walter Crane. "My Country, 'tis of Thee," is set to the truly British tune of "God Save the King," the origin of which is doubtful, as it is claimed by the French and the Germans as well as the English. —The Century.

The Carpet Must Go.

"The carpet is destined to go," was the recent comment of an upholsterer, "and sanitary science will accomplish it. It has long been acknowledged that carpets harbor dust, musty odors, and the poisons of such diseases as smallpox, diphtheria and scarlet fever. Oiled floors are the proper thing, and are readily cleaned, as the oil becomes incorporated with the wood and makes a hard finish, becoming oxidized by contact with the air. Wherever coverings of any kind are necessary, for lessening sound, etc., rugs and mats can be used, and they have a pleasing, home like look. The dust and insect nuisance gives place to cleanliness, and sunlight is not excluded for fear of fading the carpets."—Philadelphia Call.

The Hair Album Craze.

The latest craze among the ladies is a "hair album"—gentlemen's hair. Young men are besought for a lock of hair, and the request is such a flattering one that they are only too ready to comply when the right damsels apply. The contribution is tied with a blue ribbon and goes into the "hair album" along with the hair off a crowd of other fellows. Over it will be written the name, age, color of eyes, date of receiving the memento and general remarks as to personal appearance, etc., which may or may not be complimentary, as the album is never to be seen by any other than feminine eyes. The young ladies are as proud of their trophies as an Indian warrior is of the scalps he takes.—New York Telegram.

Excess Should Be Avoided With Every Kind of Food—What Not to Drink—Dress—Rest and Recreation—About Sea Bathing.

In extremely hot weather it is very important what (and how much) people eat. Food that can be easily digested should be eaten, such as perfectly ripe fruit, vegetables and cereals. Very little meat should be taken. Animal food is heating and should be indulged in very moderately. Indeed, excess should be avoided with every kind of food. It is very hurtful to throw into the stomach, while eating, a quantity of extremely cold fluid, as it lowers the temperature and hinders digestion. The stomach is at a certain temperature while performing its functions, and if that temperature is lowered by the introduction of the cold fluid, the process of digestion is arrested and the food goes undigested into the intestinal canal and causes great distress. Cramps, cholera, summer complaint, are all induced by such carelessness. In cities, where it is next to impossible to obtain fresh fruit and vegetables, it is better for those not in robust health to abstain from eating these, and in warm weather to live largely on cereals and milk.

I do not believe in the use of alcohol to any great extent. The first effect is apparently cooling, but then comes a reaction, and one becomes warmer and thirstier than ever. Those who indulge freely in alcoholic drinks in extremely hot weather are tempting Providence, and are likely to be among the victims of sunstroke. Drinking largely of ice cold water is bad; it is better to rinse the mouth with cool water frequently and avoid swallowing so much. Of course every one knows that keeping in the shade, and in a cool draught of air, is conducive to comfort in warm weather, but every one cannot do this. Where there are hundreds who can afford to go away to the country or the seaside and rest, there are thousands who have to stay in the hot city, pursuing their work just as usual with, perhaps, a couple of weeks' vacation. These are the ones who should be careful how they live.

The best way to dress is to wear thin woolen material next to the skin, as little outside clothing as possible and that of a light color. Dark colors draw the heat and light ones repel it. It is prudent to carry an umbrella or some protection for the head, at least during the middle of the day.

Persons of a full habit are generally more easily affected by the heat than thin people, but this is not an invariable rule. The brainworker who is thin would be more likely to suffer from intense warm weather than the fat laborer, for the reason that the active brain is much more sensitive than the dull one. Of course the professional man, leading a more or less sedentary life, is not apt to become so overheated by exertion as one who works with his hands. Nevertheless, when it comes to exposure to the direct rays of the sun, the stolid brain has the best of it.

The artificial life people lead at most of our watering places is not productive of as much benefit as one would think should be derived from a summer of rest and enjoyment. There are the same pleasures, the same dissipation that they have had in the city; only the scene is changed. They keep late hours and undergo fatigues which, if encountered in any useful occupation, would be pronounced insupportable. Life is thus sapped instead of strengthened. This is what most of the fashionable resorts do for us. What you want for a real, wholesome recruiting of strength lost is a quiet summer in a quiet place. It is not necessary to be buried on a farm, and yet nothing can be sweeter or purer than farm sights, sounds and smells, where you can have your chosen spot—a refuge when you are tired of being with people and long to commune with nature and to be still.

If it is impossible to go away and stay for a few weeks the short daily trips to points near at hand are better than nothing. That is all that can be said for them. The fatigue consequent upon getting to any given point and coming home again largely detracts from any good which may be obtained. This is especially so in the case of children.

Sea bathing is very good for the majority of people. There are some, however, who should never indulge in it. If the skin turns a purplish color and the teeth chatter, and the feeling upon leaving the water is one of debility rather than exhilaration, it shows that the bather is not benefited.—Dr. Willard Parker in The Epoch.

Catching Bats at Midnight.

A reporter, browsing about between midnight and 1 o'clock the other morning, saw a man standing near one of the electric light posts on Washington street waving a long horsewhip back and forth high above his head. He had a fishhook on the end of the whip, to which was attached a moth miller, and he explained that with this bait he captured the bats that were foraging among the insects around the electric light. He said he got half a dollar apiece for them, and that he had already caught seven that night. He sold them to the taxidermists, and said that he could get more for them in Boston. He spoke of hiring a man to help him, as he could catch enough then to pay him for shipping them to Boston. He caught two while the reporter remained to watch the operation, and he picked them off the hook and put them in a bag that he carried slung across his shoulder.—Providence Journal.

Dusky Princes Driving Nails.

An Altona newspaper publishes the interesting intelligence that Alfred Bell, a son of King Bell, of Cameroon, has been apprenticed to a carpenter of that town along with three other dusky Africans. The youth is 16 years old and is said to be fairly intelligent, reading and writing very well and speaking English and German. The Altona carpenter had sent out an artisan to Cameroon to superintend the erection of the government building and prison which he had built in wood for the colony, and thus it was that King Bell got the desire to make a carpenter out of his son, who is bound for four years.—New York Star.

Cultivating the Edelweiss.

The threatened extinction of edelweiss and other Alpine flowers a short time ago led to the founding of gardens and inclosures for the cultivation and protection of these plants. At one of these mountain stations, at a height of about 7,500 feet, plants of the Pyrenees, the Himalayas and the Caucasus are cultivated, as well as those of the Alps.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

O. C. Cabot, a brother of Sebastian Cabot, had only to spell his name backwards and the result was—tobacco.

Manufacture of Dogs' Biscuit.

We do not, in this country, hear men crying "cats' meat" in the streets, although that is one of the most familiar of London cries. But the manufacture of dogs' biscuit is carried on, and is quite an important industry, on both sides of the Atlantic. We condense from an authentic source the following interesting facts regarding it:

"Twenty years ago the business of making dogs' biscuit was represented by a small shop in Holborn, nearly opposite Chancery lane, in London, and there was a weekly sale of only one or two tons. Now there is a vast factory near London bridge and another in New York; and the two factories have a daily output and sale of from thirty to forty tons.

"This dog food is made of wheaten flour—chiefly that known as middlings—oatmeal, dates, beet root, and prairie meat. Dates were the first article of a vegetable or fruity nature introduced, and have had the anti-scorbutic effect so desirable in the feeding of dogs.

"For many years dates were the only addition to the food employed, and at that time it was advised that fresh vegetables should be given twice a week additional to the biscuits. A searching for something that would obviate the need for this addition led to the discovery that the only vegetable which did not lose its distinguishing properties under the great heat to which the cakes are subjected in baking is beet root; and as it has all the desirable elements, for some years past all the biscuits sent out have contained beet root.

"The last ingredient is prairie meat, which is not, as many persons suppose, tallow, grease, or butchers' refuse. It is meat from the west and South America. From it all fat has been removed, but the most valuable gristle and bones remain to be ground up and is not only of the best quality, from a feeding point of view, but perfectly sweet and good. Analysis has shown that it is much more nutritious than the beef usually sold in the butchers' shops, for it contains only five per cent. of water."—Youth's Companion.

Women Employed in England.

The number of women employed in definite occupations in England and Wales was at the census of 1881 3,408,918. Of these 1,590,739 were employed in various industries, constituting a little over one-fourth of the industrial population; 64,840 were engaged in agriculture and 1,545,302 were domestic servants. "A Woman" writing on this subject in The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Domestic service is a perfectly womanly occupation, because it implies that complete surrender of liberty and that subordination to another's will which are the brighest jewels of the female crown, but even here woman's inferiority is duly marked by lower wages, the butler being more highly paid than the housekeeper, the valet than the lady's maid, the chef than the—why the word has not even a feminine—we are obliged to say the female cook. The remaining women who are paid for their work are employed in teaching, nursing, laundry and other minor occupations. Outside these are 4,458,908 women who are 'unoccupied'—that is, unpaid—and of whom the census report says that they are mostly married and employed in domestic and other work. As these do not render service for pecuniary remuneration we are not here concerned with them, save to note that the women who gain their own livelihood number but 1,000,000 less than their so called 'more fortunate sisters.'"—Philadelphia Times.

Test for Drinking Water.

When you go out of town to a summer hotel take in your dressing bag an ounce vial of saturated solution of permanganate of potash, which any druggist will prepare for a few cents, and put half a dozen drops into a tumbler of the drinking water that is supplied. If it turns brown in an hour it is, broadly speaking, unfit to drink; if not, it is not especially harmful. If a country hotel's sewerage system is confined to cesspools within 100 feet of the house, and near the water supply, take next train to a point further on.—American Magazine.

"Baby Life Insurance" Companies.

It is said that there are over 300,000 children, between 1 and 12 years of age, who are insured in four "baby life insurance" companies in the United States. They are mostly the children of workingmen, and the insurance is usually carried to defray funeral expenses in case of death. A baby cannot be insured until it attains the age of at least 1 year. The premium is paid, as a rule, weekly, and is five cents a week in all cases.—Frank Leslie's.

The Public Debt of France.

Well may the people of France stand aghast at the financial problem they are called upon to solve. On the 1st of January, 1880, the public debt of France amounted to $6,200,000,000; on the 1st of February, 1887, it reached $7,524,000,000. Thus in seven years the debt has been swelled to the tune of $1,324,000,000—an increase of such fearful proportions as to justly create alarm for the solvency of France.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Humorous View.

The Cincinnati Enquirer suggests a means of solving the Indian question which deserves thoughtful consideration. It is very simple, being nothing more than to introduce ice water at all the reservations, and make ginger ale free to all. The Enquirer thinks if its suggestion is adopted there will be no further use for the army.

Fastening Rubber to Iron.

One who claims to have tried it says that rubber may be fastened to iron by means of a paint composed of powdered shellac steeped in about ten times its weight in concentrated ammonia. It should be allowed to stand three or four weeks before being used.

In Favor of the Classics.

Some one of a statistical turn of mind has been investigating whether the study of the classics or that of mathematics is the more favorable to longevity. The result is slightly in favor of the study of the classics.—Chicago Times.

The first iron boat is thought to have been built in 1777, on the river Foss, in Yorkshire. It was fifteen feet long, and made of sheet iron.

TACKLE THE BOOM.

Sections in various parts of the State with not half the possibilities which Sonoma Valley has to offer are having their booms. With us the boom is but a theme for conversation. There is little satisfaction in that—it only gives us an opportunity to wag our tongues without any apparent benefit unless it be to hear ourselves talk. The Sonoma Valley Exhibit will act as an entering wedge for us to tackle the boom, but we must get down to work and make a united effort to land one in our midst. There are two kinds of booms—the fictitious boom and the genuine boom—It is the latter we want. In order to create a permanent boom we must start manufacturing and other enterprises in our midst. Tons of fruit are rotting in our orchards this season because it cannot be marketed with profit. This could easily be obviated by the establishment of a fruit dryer and cannery in this city, and at a very small outlay, and thousands of dollars saved to our orchardists. Let us have a cannery. This will drive the wedge a little farther and help the boom along.

Our paving blocks interests are doing their share in creating a boom, and so is our wine, fruit and other products, but we ought have a flour mill, a woolen mill and other manufactories here. These things are all created by capital, and as we have many wealthy men in our midst they are not impossibilities. Wood is plenty and cheap in Sonoma Valley and steam can be got up here at small cost. In short manufactories run by steam power can be operated with greater profit in this place than any where else in Sonoma county.

Let us open up our extensive chalk deposits and coal fields and erect canneries and build a flour and other mills and then will we get our permanent boom. Until some of these things are done we will hope for the boom in vain.

"THIS is the best of them all!" are the words used by visitors to the Mechanics' Fair as they stand and gaze with wonderment at the varied and extensive display of the Sonoma Valley Exhibit. The above and similar expressions can be heard on all sides as visitors from every section of the State and the East in their perambulations through the Mechanics' Pavilion pause and admire our incomparable exhibit. It has already been conceded by some of the best judges in the State that if merit counts for anything the $1,000 prize for the best general exhibit will be won by Sonoma Valley, and we will surely get it if no favortism is shown by the judges, which is hardly probable as they have been selected with great care by the Directors of the Mechanics' Institute.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Texas, by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial bottles of this great Discovery for Consumption free at E. Wegner's Drug Store.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of ten years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or blood. Only half a dollar a bottle at Wegner's Drug Store.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12, 1887.

The big crowds around the hotels have dispersed, the blue rosettes have disappeared from the streets of the Capital, and the greeting of Doctor is heard about ten thousand times less than usual, for the past week, which means that the International Medical Congress, after a most satisfactory and successful session has closed its labors, to be resumed at Berlin in 1889. It is impossible to even approximate the good results following this meeting, but that they are great and many there is no reason to doubt, for a large portion of the medical wisdom of the world, having assembled for the purpose of a mutual interchange of experience and opinion, the conclusion is inevitable that mankind will be largely the gainer by the development of scientific methods in the improved treatment of the ills that afflict humanity.

In our opinion the doctors were practically unanimous that President Cleveland did not have a healthy appearance, and that he needed a rigorous course of outdoor exercise. The President, as he faced the four or five thousand doctors, seemed to wince uneasily under their critical gaze.

I suppose I may with propriety turn from the medical to the religious world—the one devoted to preserving the body—the other to saving the soul of man. Washington has been selected as the site of a great Catholic University, which will be one of the most important and imposing religious institutions of the world. The location was chosen by a meeting of prelates in Baltimore, their decision having been approved by the Pope. It is said that $8,000,000 will be required to construct and place the University on a solid business basis, of which sum $700,000 has been secured, inclusive of the $500,000 donated by Miss Caldwell, a devout and generous Catholic lady.

The celebrated tariff conference at Oak View has ended, and though the distinguished conferees are naturally very reticent regarding the results of their protracted deliberations, the public are confident that a measure was framed looking to a liberal reduction of Government revenues, both in customs duties and internal taxation, and that all of the powerful influence of the Administration will be exerted in favor of the adoption of the act by the Fiftieth Congress. Mr. Randall was not consulted in his momentous matter, and hence his probable course of action is a theme of much speculative interest to politicians of all parties.

For the present the purchase of bonds by the Secretary of the Treasury has practically ceased, owing to the refusal of the bond-holders to sell at acceptable prices, and so it is probable that the amount the Government will be able to buy at its own prices will be much smaller than was anticipated.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has prepared a statement showing that the estimated number of acres restored to the public domain under the August orders of the Secretary of the Interior, revoking indemnity withdrawls is 1,323,600 acres, exclusive of 1,513,000 acres within the limits of Indian reservations. This includes the railroads, in which orders of restoration have up to the present been issued.

The statistical report of the Agricultural Department for the month of September shows a great reduction in the condition of growing crops as compared with the August report, especially in corn, cotton and potatoes, with little if any change in the small grain crops, due to an excess of rain on the Atlantic coast and a long continued drought in the Gulf States. Compared with last year there is a decline of ten points in cotton and of four in maize.

The celebration of the Constitutional Centennial at Philadelphia the latter part of the present week is anticipated with general interest by patriots everywhere, for even Gladstone has sent a noble letter, regretting his inability to attend. President Cleveland, the Governors of the Revolutionary States, and others prominent in state and church will be present on this momentous anniversary of American nationality.

Indispensable to the Toilet.

Darbys Prophylactic Fluid cures chafing, eruptions and inflamation of all kinds; cures inflamed or sore eyes; relieves pains from bites or stings of insects and sore feet; destroys all taint of persperation or offensive smell from the feet or any part of the body; cleanses and whitens the skin. Used as a dentifrice it purifies the breath; preserves the teeth and cures toothache; sore gums and canker. A little of the Fluid in the water used in bathing is very refreshing and especially beneficial to the sick.

THE GRAND JURY REPORT.

Nasty State of Affairs at the County Farm---Other Matters.

The Grand Jury, which was in session three days last week in Santa Rosa, adjourned on the 15th instant. Four indictments were found, four charges dismissed and one case was referred.

With relation to the County Farm they recommend a distinct separation of the male and female departments. This recommendation is made on account of the lax condition of the morals of that institution, it having come to the knowledge of the jury that a number of illegitimate children were born upon the County Farm of parents that were inmates thereof.

In the matter of the Hospital, while they commend it as well-designed and well-kept, they complain that the physician in charge, Dr. R. P. Smtth, has not made from time to time explicit reports of its sanitary condition, especially with regard to the increase of inmates by birth.

Of the Sheriff's office they say: "We find the books and accounts are well kept and in good condition." The jail is "in general good condition, being cleanly and orderly kept," but insecure, and they call the attention of the Board of Supervisors to its insecure condition.

The Treasurer's office they report as "neat, convenient and safe; the books all in good order and apparently well kept."

With regard to the County Clerk's office, they make the following report:

"The County Clerk's office we find in good order, the books in good form and everything well systematized. We find the books generally well and neatly kept, but will recommend that new indices be made to replace some that are much worn, and to rebind some."

The Hall of Records they report too small; they recommend that a more careful record be kept of the fees for the satisfaction of mortgages; and that a more complete record of marriages, births and deaths be provided for.

In the office of Superintendent of Schools they find the books well kept and in neat order, and displays of progress in the office from various school districts is quite commendable to the teachers and schools, and reflects great credit upon the County Superintendent.

They suggert more efficient means for the collection of licenses; and that Justices of the Peace report every three months, whether they transact any business or not; that the County poll tax be collected by same method as the State poll tax. And in conclusion say:

"In all the departments of our county officers we have met with the utmost courtesy from each and all the officers and their assistants, and we believe the affairs of Sonoma county are in competent hands, and our criticisms are upon some of the methods and forms now in use and not upon the integrity of our county officers.

Sonoma Valley.

Sonoma valley is somewhat behind Napa county this year in the ripening of its grapes. It will, however, be only a few days before the valley vineyards will be properly represented in the Fair. The grapes are ripening fast, and next week rich, ripe berries from this section will begin to arrive. From that time forth the valley exhibit will be buried in immense quantities of grapes, both for table and wine making purposes. It is an open question who has more varieties, Crabb or Drummond, and both intend to exhibit every kind they possess at the Fair. Hence, when both viticulturists are fully represented the show will be the greatest ever seen in the United States and probably in the world. How much viticulturists, and in fact the whole State, are indebted to these two gentlemen can easily be learned by a careful inspection of the many varieties of grapes which they have collected at great labor and expense. A very interesting description of the old town of Sonoma and the valley has been written by Secretary Poppe of the committee. It is to be printed and distributed at the Fair. It is about time that the paradise lying within a few miles of this city should be better known, not only by Eastern visitors, but by San Franciscans, many of whom travel all the way to Southern California to find what lies ready to hand just across the bay in "Old Sonoma."—Report.

I visited St. Helena for change of climate but found it too hot. Then I went to Hayward's and it was too dull. At Berkeley the students annoyed me with their hoodlumism. It was too foggy in San Francisco and too bleak at Santa Cruz. Wherever I went I was uncomfortable, uneasy and unsettled. A friend suggested that this state of unrest might possibly be occasioned by biliousness or a disordered stomach, and advised a trial of Frese's Hamburg Tea giving me a package as a present. Since then I use it occasionally, and was never better in my life. I advise all to try it.

THE NOON TRAGEDY.

Like Banquo's Ghost, it will Not Down---Sensational Developments Brought to Light by the Grand Jury.

Dan Behmer, a hitherto respected citizen of Santa Rosa, by occupation a gunsmith, who was an important witness for the defense in the case of the People vs. John Bailiff and Al. Read, charged with murder in slaying Lawyer Noon, in the the above city, about one year ago, for seducing the former's wife, a sister of the latter, has been indicted by the Grand Jury of this county for bribery. On Friday morning of last week he was arrested and released on furnishing bonds in the sum of $2,000.

It appears that after the killing of Noon, the defendants employed T. J. Geary, and Barclay Henley to manage the case, and together they succeeded in saving the neck of Bailiff from the halter. The testimony of Behmer did much to influence the jury, as he swore that Noon, the murdered man, when he purchased the revolver which was found upon his person after he had received his death wound, remarked: "I want a sure shot pistol, as I expect to have trouble with a man about his wife." These words, it is claimed, were never used by Noon and in so testifying it is charged Behmer committed perjury, for which he received a sum of money, said to be $200, supposed to have been paid him by one of the attorneys for the defense.

The principal instigator of the bribery charge against Behmer, strange to relate, was Bailiff, and it looks, as one of his former attorneys puts it, as though it was an attempt on his part to recover money which he had paid in his defense. Messrs. Geary and Henley are placed in a very compromising position by the action of the man whom they so ably and successfully defended. Both, however, stand high as members of the Bar of this State, and it is evident that if bribery was resorted to it was accomplished by friends of Bailiff and not by his attorneys.

Behmer in his defense denies ever receiving a cent to testify in the case and says no money was ever offered him and none spoken of.

In view of this denial it will be impossible to convict, admitting him to be guilty, unless the party who tendered the bribe, and whom the law would hold to be equally as guilty as the accused, should turn State's evidence and give the whole business away. But this is highly improbable, as no indictment has been found against the parties suspected of bribing Behmer, and the probability is that the prosecution will fall through.

Tens of thousands of people everywhere on the coast deal by mail with Weinstock & Lubin, 400-410 K St., Sacramento, Cal., a clear indication that their goods and prices are worth knowing about. NEW TO-DAY.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is worthy your confidence. It is peculiar in that it strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. Give it a trial.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Pile driving for the Donahue extension drawbridge across Petaluma Creek has commenced, but the work is being prosecuted, oh! so slow.

A large number of Sonoma people visited the Mechanics' Fair last Wednesday, all anxious to see and compare Sonoma Valley's display with that of other sections.

The civil suit of Martha C. Watriss vs. E. S. Read, which has been dragging its slow length along in the Superior Court at Santa Rosa is set for trial to-day in Department Two, Judge Rutledge presiding.

Mrs. C. C. Carriger has placed on exhibition at the Mechanics' Fair a sample of Brazilian flour corn grown on her place four miles southwest of this city. It is claimed that this corn when ground will make bread equal to that made from wheat flour.

A grand ball will be given in this place on Thanksgiving night by the members of Sonoma Parlor, No. 111, N. S. G. W. The object is to raise funds to purchase a banner for the Parlor. Futher particulars will appear in these columns next month.

Two cabbages were sent to the Fair from this place last Tuesday to be placed on exhibit among the other productions of Sonoma Valley, one of which weighs 38 and the other 29 pounds. They were grown in the garden of A. Castagnassio, in the suburbs of Sonoma.

Dresel & Co. have been making heavy shipments of wine to the East the past week. Their wines have an established reputation in the Atlantic States, which is well earned, as Mr. Dresel is one of the most experenced and painstaking wine-makers in the State, and his cellar contains wines fit for the gods.

The new swimming baths at the Agua Caliente Warm Springs are completed and now open to the public. They are the largest and best appointed mineral baths in the State. The water of these springs are of delightful temperature for bathing and their curative properties are highly endorsed by our leading physicians. *

R. B. Lyon, blacksmith and wagon maker, has just received a machine from the East for cutting up axles on wagons, where the wheels have so much latteral play as to require washes. At a small expense you can have your axles cut up so that your wagon or buggy will run as easily and smothly as when taken from the factory. *

D. A. Manuel, who purchased the Pritchard place, through the real estate agency of Raschen & Granice, last week, intends making some substantial improvements on the place. A fine residence and other buildings will be erected. Mr. Manuel, who has been living at Calistoga, will remove with his family to this place next week.

Mrs. Frank R. Corbaley, for several years a resident of this place and who removed to Spokane Falls, Washington Territory, last Spring, died at that place, last Tuesday. The deceased had been in poor health for a number of years. She leaves a husband, two small children and a large circle of friends in Sonoma county to mourn her demise.

The performances given at Union Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings of last week by the Mirror of Ireland Company attracted large crowds of people both evenings. The unanimous verdict of the audience was that it was one of the best shows ever given in this city. The panorama scenes were charming and the acting by the company was both chaste and pleasing.

It will be seen by reference to a dissolution notice published in these columns that the firm of Pauli & Engelbert, butchers and produce dealers, have dissolved partnership by mutual consent, Mrs Pauli retiring. The business will henceforth be conducted by Mr. C W Engelbert. This gentleman is a live business man and has come to Sonoma to stay, and we therefore bespeak for him a liberal patronage.

Ned, the 5 year-old son of Mrs. F. McG. Martin, our lady School Superintendent, while playing around the Occidental Hotel, on Tuesday morning, fell down the cellar of the hotel, the door of which had been left open a few minutes. He struck upon his head and received quite a deep though not serious cut on the back of his head from which the blood flowed copiously. The little fellow notwithstanding the accident, was playing around as usual within an hour after receiving the injury.

Clay Literary Society.

The attendance at Clay Literary Society last Monday evening was more than gratifying to those members who have worked so hard the past eighteen months to keep the society together. More interest is being manifested by the people of Sonoma in the wellfare of Clay Literary than ever before. Union Hall, where the exercises are now held was crowded on the above evening to listen to one of the most pleasing free open entertainments ever given by the Society. The numbers consisted of a piano and violin duet, Miss Elosia Pauli and Mr. Wm. Gwynn; reading, Miss Hendrickson; vocal duet, Misses Stella Johnson and Carrie Appleton; reading, Mrs. H. H. Granice; song, "Maid of the Mill," Miss Annie Raschen; vocal solo, Miss Johanna Tobin. The Society and public are indebted to Miss Annie Raschen and Mr. Chas. Tarrant, the entertainment committee, for the excellent programme presented. After the exercises the floor was cleared and the evening's enjoyment was wound up with a social hop, which broke up at 12 o'clock.

The Y. M. I.

The Young Men's Institute of Sonoma gave their first open meeting, on Wednesday evening last at Weyl's Hall. The meeting was opened by the President, Mr. John Kearney. He said one of the objects of the Institute was to promote sociability, and they hoped to accomplish that by holding open meetings quite often in the future. The large hall was well filled with ladies and gentlemen who listened with much attention to the long and interesting programme presented, composed of the following numbers: Selections by the Y. M. I. Band; vocal duet, Misses S. Wilson and M. Estes; piano duet, Misses Eloisa and Pauline Pauli; vocal duet, Misses Burke; recitation, Mr. J. Curran; piano solo, Miss M. Burke; vocal duet, Misses Kearney; piano solo, Miss M. Robin; vocal solo with guitar accompaniment, Miss N. and Mr. A. Haraszthy; recitation Mr. W. McAndrews; violin with piano accompaniment, Mr. Wm. Gwynn and Miss Eloisa Pauli; recitation, Miss M. Biggins; vocal solo, Mr. McCarthy; selection, Y. M. I. Band.

The Brewster-Enos Road Contest.

The hearing of the petition for a private road over the lands of Mrs. S. Enos, petitioned for by Amanda Culver, Albert Brewster and others, again came up for discussion before the Board of Supervisors at Santa Rosa last Wednesday. Hon. J. S. Enos appeared and addressed the Board on behalf of the non-consenting land owner, Mrs. Enos, and Thos. Rutledge, Jr., represented the petitioners. After listening to arguments pro and con, the report of the viewers was accepted, the petition granted and $150 damages awarded to Mrs. Enos. The Board also ordered the petitioners to maintain gates at both entrances to Mrs. Enos' property.

Poisoned by Fish.

On Friday evening of last week Mr. W. P. Wilson and several members of his family partook very freely at supper of Spanish mackeral purchased from an Italian fish peddler. Shortly after, those who had eaten of the fish complained of a strange sensation in the head and were taken violently sick at the stomach. This was followed by a swelling of the head that was alarming. Emetics were taken and had the desired effect and in a few hours all had recovered.

THE LATE ERNEST RUFUS.

Ernest Rufus, the well-known citizen of Sonoma Valley and pioneer of California, who died at his home in this place, on the 2d inst., was born in Waldmessinger Wartemberg, Germany, October 18, 1810. The early tendency of his mind was toward a military career, and at the age of 16 years young Rufus left home and enlisted in the Swiss Guards of the King of Naples. After a number of years in the service he became thoroughly proficient in military science and the art of war.

In 1836 he left Italy for the New World, landing in New York without adventure. Within a month after his arrival he was on his way to the Southern States. Florida and Havana were visited in turn and then Louisiana. Being of a restless and adventurous disposition Mr. Rufus joined a party of trappers in New Orleans bound for Wyoming Territory.

In traveling through New Mexico his party was surprised and captured near Taos by Arapahoe Indians, who not only robbed them of their provisions and animals, but kept them prisoners for several months. At length Rufus and two others of the party escaped.

Learning of the advantages of California through a party of wandering trappers, the three, after some delay in procuring animals and an outfit, started for that then isolated country. Our whole Western territory was at that time but little better than a wilderness, but the small party of three, after a long and hazardous journey of six months through Arizona and Lower California, at length arrived at Yerba Buena, the present site of San Francisco, in 1842.

At Yerba Buena Mr. Rufus soon learned of General Sutter and Sutters' Fort and went there. Mr. Rufus was immediately put in charge of the grist mill and storehouses belonging to Sutter. Here he served out flour and provisions to the immigrants who crossed the plains in the early forties, and remained there until the breaking out of the Spanish rebellion of Gen. Jose Castro against the Governor (Micheltoreno) of California.

There were a number of trappers and sailors living about the Fort and General Sutter instructed Rufus to drill them for soldiers. After repeated efforts Rufus gave up the task and tried his hand with a company of native Indians. The raw recruits proved more tractable than the whites. The Indians were fully uniformed and under Rufus as captain took an active part in quelling the revolt, and after several skirmishes finally reached the capital of Monterey. Here peace was declared and Gen. Micheltoreno was called back to Mexico.

Captain Rufus was to have been paid $150 per month for his services during the rebellion, but he received nothing but provisions for some years. At length he was given a grant of the Rancho del Hermann in consideration for distinguished services rendered the Mexican Government. This grant, consisting of 10,000 acres, was on the coast of Sonoma county, and included the famous Fort Ross property. This estate was managed by him for a number of years, when he sold out and came to Sonoma Valley. He bought the Hooker Ranch, and after residing in the valley some time he went to Europe, and after an extended tour of five years he returned to Sonoma Valley to live quietly until his death.

While in New York in 1855, Mr. Rufus was married to Frederika Montgel, who survives him with one son and three daughters.

The title of Major was conferred upon Captain Rufus by the California Assembly for services rendered in quelling the rebellion of 1844.

Personal and Social.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Brindley, sailed for London on the steamship Germania on Wednesday last.

Mrs. Fannie McG. Martin, Superintendent of Schools, paid our public school a visit on Tuesday and Wednesday.

W. H. Barham, attorney-at-law, Santa Rosa, was in town Tuesday on business connected with the Santa Rosa and Carquinez Railroad Company's condemnation suits instituted against Sonoma parties.

Mr. F. T. Dubring, after a two months' vacation, returned to his studies at the State University, Berkeley, last Wednesday. He will be greatly missed by his many friends here, and especially by the members of the Literary Society and the Native Sons, in which organizations he has taken a great deal of interest.

Glen Ellen Notes.

Owing to the heavy fogs of late the weather is much cooler and more pleasant.

Coleman Talbot of Bennet Valley, accompanied by his family, was in town one day last week.

Horse-racing and running across the large bridge at this place still continues, notwithstanding there is a warning sign nailed up on both sides.

Wm. Sobbe took a run to the city last Saturday to see the Fair. Billy is a big judge of good apples.

The planks on the bridge spanning Sonoma Creek at this place are almost worn through and shou'd be replaced by new ones.

Useful and Hurtful Medicines

There is a certain class of remedies for constipation absolutely useless. There are boluses and potions made in great part of podophyllin, aloes, rhubarb, gamboge, and other worthless ingredients. The damage they do to the stomachs of those who use them is incalculable. They evacuate the bowels, it is true, but always do so violently and profusely, and besides, gripe the bowels. Their effect is to weaken both them and the stomach. Better far to use the agreeable and salutary aperient, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the laxative effect of which is never preceded by pain, or accompanied by a convulsive, violent action of the bowels. On the contrary, it invigorates those organs, the stomach and the entire system. As a means of curing and preventing malarial fevers, no medicine can compare with it, and it remedies nervous debility, rheumatism, kidney and bladder inactivity, and other inorganic ailments.

Imporant To Ladies.

Any woman making less than $10.00 weekly should write us immediately. We want agents for our celebrated Dr. Edison's Electro-Magnetic Spinal Supporting Corsets and our Dr. Nichols Improved Corset Cover and Bustle, also a few experienced agents wanted to take charge of territory and put on subagents. We make more styles, pay larger commissions to agents, and sell at lower prices than any other corset manufacturer in the world, as we do not sell to the trade, our agents are protected. Indians at Haskell Institute.

The native traits predominate still, although they are far from their tribal influences. Stoicism is a marked quality, and one that has come to them from their ancestry, and is not the result of teaching. "They never cry out," said the superintendent, "however much they may be injured. Yesterday that boy there ran a pitchfork through his foot. It must have been intensely painful, but he never even whimpered. His wound must hurt today, but he is at work from his own choice, and there is no expression of suffering on his face. That other boy with his leg done up in bandages, a day or two since spilled a pan of scalding water over his leg, and and must have suffered immeasurable pain; but he gave no sign, and has voluntarily gone on with his work as usual. The sick in the hospital are equally stoical to pain; no matter how much they suffer, they endure it like sick dogs. In his agony a sick boy will bite through his lips, and never allow a sound to escape him. They take their medicine quietly and always as if grateful for the service."

In speaking of the sick, the superintendent remarked that the main diseases with which they are attacked are scrofulous in their nature, and that they have a tendency to weak lungs, with the consequence that the deaths are large—nearly or quite 50 per cent. of the whole—and that they die rapidly and with apparent ease.—Lawrence (Kan.) Cor. Chicago Times.

Nicknames for German Regiments.

To take the collective list first, the guards are designated "Hammel," or sheep. The cavalry christen the infantry, as a body, by the alternative names of "sand-bares," "sand-carriers," and "clod hoppers." The infantry invariably speak of the cavalry as "grooms." The guards call soldiers of the line "field-rats." The cuirassiers are known as "flour sacks," the hussars as "pack-threads," the artillery as "cow-soldiers," and the pioneers as "moles." Coming to separate corps in the guard, the first regiment of foot are called "tin heads," because of the color of their helmet; the First grenadiers are the "potato peelers;" the chasseur are "green frogs;" and the huzzars are "glow-worms," the uniform of the first being green, and that of the second scarlet. The Third uhlans are "dusties," because of the dull yellow of the facings on their tunics, and the pioneers are "earth-worms." In the infantry of the line the men of the Eighth are "cracknel guard," an allusion to the yellow knot of their epaulets, and those of the Twenty-seventh are the "botchers," because they are said to patch their uniforms almost as long as they will hold together. In the cavalry the Seventh cuirassiers are the "whitesmiths;" the First huzzars are "death's heads" (their shako bears this emblem); the Fourth huzzars are the "patridges," so called on account of their brown uniforms.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Give Them A Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do the work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon his for certain.

No more pleasant holiday can be taken than a drive to Agua Caliente Springs where the best of lunches and dinners are served at reasonable rates, and a glorious swim may be enjoyed in one of the finest mineral baths in America. †

Sore Eyes

The eyes are always in sympathy with the body, and afford an excellent index of its condition. When the eyes become weak, and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered by Scrofula, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best known remedy.

Scrofula, which produced a painful inflammation in my eyes, caused me much suffering for a number of years. By the advice of a physician I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely

Cured

My eyes are now in a splendid condition, and I am as well and strong as ever. —Mrs. William Gage, Concord, N. H.

For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has effected a complete cure, and I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers. —C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H.

From childhood, and until with a few months, I have been afflicted with Weak and Sore Eyes. I have used for these complaints with beneficial results, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and consider it a great blood purifier. —Mrs. C. Phillips, Glover, Vt.

I suffered for a year with inflammation in my left eye. Three ulcers formed on the ball, depriving me of sight, and causing great pain. After trying many other remedies, to no purpose, I was finally induced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

By Taking

three bottles of this medicine I have been entirely cured. My sight has been restored, and there is no sign of inflammation, sore, or ulcer in my eye. —Kendal T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Ohio.

My daughter, ten years old, was afflicted with Scrofulous Sore Eyes. During the last two years she never saw light of any kind. Physicians of the highest standing exerted their skill, but with no permanent success. On the recommendation of a friend I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which my daughter commenced taking. Before she had used the third bottle her sight was restored. Her cure is complete. —W. E. Sutherland, Evangelist, Shelby City, Ky. ††

CLOSING THE CIVIL WAR.

The Last Charge Was on a Brandy Barrel and the Last Shot Was Over It.

The man who claims to have ordered the last shot fired on the Confederate side during the late unpleasantness is Mr. A. R. Faircloth, of Camilla, Ga., a gentleman as modest as he is brave. The incident was told us by Capt. D. H. Sanders, an old comrade in arms of Mr. Faircloth, and forms a unique feature in the unwritten history of the great struggle. Mr. Faircloth belonged to Company C, Second Georgia cavalry.

Lee had surrendered. Johnston had surrendered. Only Kirby Smith remained at the head of armed resistance. The Confederacy was in its death throes. Wheeler determined not to surrender his men, but to force his way across the country to join Smith west of the Mississippi. To this end he procured the removal of his command from Johnston's army, and started upon one of the most hazardous retreats in the annals of war. While everywhere Confederate troops were grounding their arms, taking the oath of allegiance to the United States government and returning to their homes, this little band under their gallant leader refused to lower the stars and bars.

Wheeler's bold movement was kept a profound secret, known only to his own men and Gen. Johnston. All thought that the war was over. The Federals came freely into the lines of their late foes, and there was a general intermingling of the "blue and gray." It fell to the lot of Company C to guard Wheeler's rear. A barrel of brandy was discovered just inside the reserve picket line, and those old veterans, with true soldierly instinct, soon tapped it and were fast getting into a hilarious condition. The lieutenant in command of the picket guards was in a short time unable to distinguish a Confederate from a "Yank," and was relieved by Mr. Faircloth, the orderly sergeant. The aroma of that brandy was wafted to the olfactories of the Union soldiers, and soon a troop of cavalry was seen coming at a headlong charge upon that barrel. Sergt. Faircloth obeyed the orders of his chief, and the dashing squadron was received with a volley from their picket line. They were dumfounded, and without returning the fire showed a white flag. The sergeant advanced to parley with the bearer of the flag of truce.

"What the deuce did you fire for? Don't you know the war is over?" This was jerked out by the spokesman on the other side.

"I obeyed orders," calmly replied the sergeant. "No troops can pass my line."

"But, man, Johnston has surrendered, and the war is over. Come, let us pass, we want to taste that brandy over there."

"I must carry out my orders," stoutly maintained Sergt. Faircloth, "and if your men advance they will be fired upon. But," he added, "I am expecting orders calling to my men every minute, and if you will wait perhaps you may get a drop of the brandy."

Strange to say the troop waited, and the order came. Then there was a grand rush for the barrel—when "Johnny Reb" and "Yank" got on a drunk together.

This was the last shot fired in the late war, and the incident, now published for the first time, will be read with interest by those who participated in the novel scene, as well as the general public. To complete the story it only remains to tell that, acting under the advice of Johnston, Wheeler gave over his daring attempt, and, turning over his men to the brigade, regimental and company commanders to act as they saw fit, gathered about him a few bold spirits, and started to join the head of the Confederacy in his effort to escape his pursuers.—Greensboro Herald.

Where They Were Born.

Some time after the war Gen. Crittenden met three ex-Confederate officers at dinner, and they became very friendly.

"Major," said Gen. Crittenden to one of them, "where were you born?"

"Well," said the major, getting a little red, "I was born, sir, in Nantucket, Mass., but you see I lived ten years in the south, and I married a southern lady, and as all my interests were in the south of course I fought for them."

"And where were you born?" he asked the second.

"Well, sir, I was born in Nantucket, Mass., but I'd lived in the south twenty years, and of course"——

"I see," said the general, turning to the third. "Colonel, where were you born?"

"I was born in Nantucket, Mass., too, but I'd been thirty years in the south, and"——

"That's curious, isn't it?"

"Tell me, general," said one of them, "where were you born?"

"Well, I was born in Huntsville, Ala., but I lived in the north for many years, and I fought for the Union."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Creoles and Their Servants.

Poor indeed must be the creole family without one retainer of color, and almost every household provides for some old and useless pensioners with affectionate interest. Creole servants are invaluable, their training having been thorough; and in almost every instance they remained with their old mistresses, often working when there was no money to pay their wage, often assuming extra work to make a few picayunes to help their beloved "white people." Creole housekeepers manage to keep servants, even the servants of the new dispensation, while their American sisters in the same city are wasting their substance in advertisements, or wearing out footgear tramping from one employment bureau to the other. Creoles accord certain privileges to their servants which Americans refuse. Creole children are taught from babyhood politeness to servants, and American children are permitted to jeer, to worry and to insult them.—Harper's Bazar.

Oil on the Stormy Waters.

The use of oil to calm the sea during a storm, or at least to check the force of big waves, has apparently acquired recognition as a scientific truth. At any rate the experiment tried by shipmasters, as recorded on the monthly pilot charts issued from the hydrographic office of the navy department, have been generally successful. Mariners have, in fact, been led to try their experiments by the frequent publication of information concerning the practice, and mechanics have also been led to contrive devices by means of which the oil can be thrown from the bows of ships. There have also been prepared several combinations of animal, vegetable and mineral oils especially for use as quieting agents in storms at sea.—Boston Transcript.

To Rest the Aching Back.

Workers at home who have aching backs and but one writing desk, and that a low one, will find great relief from writing in a standing position (if a recess is out of the question), if only for fifteen minutes.—The Writer.

Farmers desiring groceries and having the cash to pay for the same, can lay in a supply at Weyl's Cash Grocery as cheap as if purchased in the city. Come and be convinced*

A Woman from Austria.

Near the village of Zillingdorf, in Lower Austria, lives Maria Haas, an intelligent and industrious woman, whose story of physical suffering and final relief, as related by herself, is of interest to English women. "I was employed," she says, "in the work of a large farmhouse. Overwork brought on sick headache, followed by a deathly fainting and sickness of the stomach, until I was unable to retain either food or drink. I was compelled to take to my bed for several weeks. Getting a little better from rest and quiet, I sought to do some work, but was soon taken with a pain in my side, which in a little while seemed to spread over my whole body, and throbbed in my every limb. This was followed by a cough and shortness of breath, until finally I could not sew, and I took to my bed for the second, and, as I thought, for the last time. My friends told me that my time had nearly come, and that I could not live longer than when the trees put on their green once more. Then I happened to get one of the Seigel pamphlets. I read it, and my dear mother bought me a bottle of SEIGEL'S SYRUP, (Shaker Extract of Roots) which I took exactly according to directions, and I had not taken the whole of it before I felt a change for the better. My last illness began June 3d, 1882, and continued to August 9th, when I began to take the Syrup. Very soon I could do a little light work. The cough left me, and I was no more troubled in breathing. Now I am perfectly cured; and oh, how happy I am! I cannot express gratitude enough for SEIGEL'S SYRUP (Shaker Extract of Roots). Now I must tell you that the doctors in our district distributed handbills cautioning the people against the medicine, telling them it would do no good, and many were thereby influenced to destroy the Seigel pamphlets; but now, whenever one is to be found, it is kept like a relic. The few preserved are borrowed to read, and I have lent mine for six miles around our district. People have come eighteen miles to get me to buy the medicine for them, knowing that it cured me, and to be sure to get the right kind. I know a woman who was looking like death, and who told them there was no help for her, that she had consulted several doctors, but none could help her. I told her of Seigel's Syrup, and wrote the name down for her that she might make no mistake. She took my advice and the Syrup, and now she is in perfect health, and the people around us are amazed. The medicine has made such progress in our neighborhood that people say they don't want the doctor any more, but they take the Syrup. Sufferers from gout who were confined to their beds and could hardly move a finger have been cured by it. There is a girl in our district who caught a cold by going through some water, and was in bed five years with costiveness and rheumatic pains, and had to have an attendant to watch by her. There was not a doctor in the surrounding district to whom her mother had not applied to relieve her child, but every one crossed themselves and said they could not help her. Whenever the little bell rang, which is rung in our place when anybody is dead, we thought surely it was for her; but Seigel's Syrup and Pills (Shaker Extract of Roots) saved her life, and now she is as healthy as anybody, goes to church, and can work even in the fields. Everybody was astonished when they saw her out, knowing how many years she had been in bed. To-day she adds her gratitude to mine for God's mercies and Seigel's Syrup. MARIA HAAS.

S.S.S.

The Theatrical Profession.

Merit will win and receive public recognition and praise. Facts, which are the outcome of general experience, growing through years of critical and practical test, become as rooted and immovable as the rock of Gibraltar in public opinion, and henceforth need no further guarantee as to their genuineness. The indisputable fact that Swift's Specific is the best blood purifier in the world, is one of these immovable Gibraltar rock facts of which we have spoken, and every day's experience roots this conviction deeper and deeper in public opinion. Every class of our people in America and in Europe, every trade, calling and profession, including the medical profession, have borne voluntary testimony to the remarkable virtues of S. S. S. and its infallible efficacy in curing all diseases of the blood. These testimonials are on file by the thousands, and open to the inspection of all. Now come, unsolicited, two distinguished members of the theatrical profession, who gratefully testify to the wonderful curative qualities of the Specific in their individual cases. Their testimonials are herewith submitted to the public without further comment—let them speak for themselves. The lady is a member of the famous Thalia Theatre Company, of New York, and formerly of the Residence Theatre, Berlin, Germany, and of McVicker's Stock Company, of Chicago. The gentleman is a well known member of the New York Thalia Theatre Company. Both are well known in theatrical circles in this country and in Europe.

Charlotte Randow's Testimony.

NEW YORK, May 3, 1887.

Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—Having been annoyed with pimples, eruptions and roughness of the skin, from bad condition of my blood, for more than a year, I used a leading preparation of sarsaparilla and other advertised remedies to no effect. Then I consulted a prominent physician, and from his treatment received no benefit. I then concluded to try the S. S. S. remedy for the blood, and five or six packages, by a thorough eradication of my trouble and restoring smoothness to my skin, have made me happy, and I cheerfully give you this testimonial for such use and publicity as you wish to make of it.

CHARLOTTE RANDOW,
152 Bowery, near Canal Street.

Hugo Hasskerl's Testimony.

The Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—For two years I had a severe case of eczema. I used tar soaps, sulphur soaps, and various other remedies, and was prescribed for by numbers of physicians, but found no relief. At last I determined to try the S. S. S. remedy, and seven or eight bottles have thoroughly relieved me, and you can use this certificate in any manner you wish.

BILIOUSNESS

"I unhesitatingly add my testimony to the great benefits to be derived from Simmons Liver Regulator. I was afflicted for several years with disordered Liver, which resulted in a severe attack of Jaundice. I had good medical attendance, but it failed to restore me to the enjoyment of my former health. I then tried the most renowned physicians of Louisville, Ky., but all to no purpose, when upon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health."—A. H. SHIRLEY, Richmond, Ky....."I most cheerfully recommend it to all who suffer from Bilious Attacks or any disease caused by a disarranged state of the Liver."....W. R. BERNARD, Kansas City, Mo.

GOOD TIDINGS.

"DR. SMITH:—Your truly wonderful Caloric Vita Oil has performed for me the most remarkable and speedy cure of rheumatism on record. I do not hesitate to recommend it as the greatest pain reliever in existence. "I. B. GILLUM.
"No. 534 Fifteenth street, Oakland, Cal."

"It cured my neuralgia in a few hours, when I had suffered night after night with it and tried everything. "A LOCAL PREACHER.
"San Francisco, Cal."

WON'T BLISTER.—Caloric Vita Oil takes the place of all pain killing lotions or liniments, poultices or blisters, and while its penetrating, heating, healing and vital action is tenfold more powerful than either, it will not chafe or blister.

Dr. J. Winchester, Columbia, Cal., says: "Have used Vita Oil with the most beneficial results; can endorse without hesitation your claim. As a family remedy for the relief of pain it has no equal in the world. In our household it has become indispensable."

"With a thankful heart I acknowledge the great merit of Dr. Smith's Caloric Vita Oil. I had suffered over 30 years with bronchitis and was seriously threatened with lung disease. I had tried all remedies and all climates with occasional temporary relief, but no cure. The use of two small bottles made me a sound man. "A BANK OFFICER."

A prominent druggist in San Francisco:—"We hazard nothing in saying it is the best pain cure and healing remedy ever used or known. It acts quickly, promptly and certainly in relieving pain. Hundreds of sufferers have been relieved by it, to the wonder of thousands of their friends. Its sales have doubled nearly every month."

"It will do the heaviest work of any medicine I ever handled, and quick, too."
